Q & A

Underwear

The origin of Malva is simple...

Protective underwear should be affordable.

Care Instructions

PRODUCT LIFE EXPECTANCY

With proper care, many of our customers report that Bambody underwear can last well over 12 months.

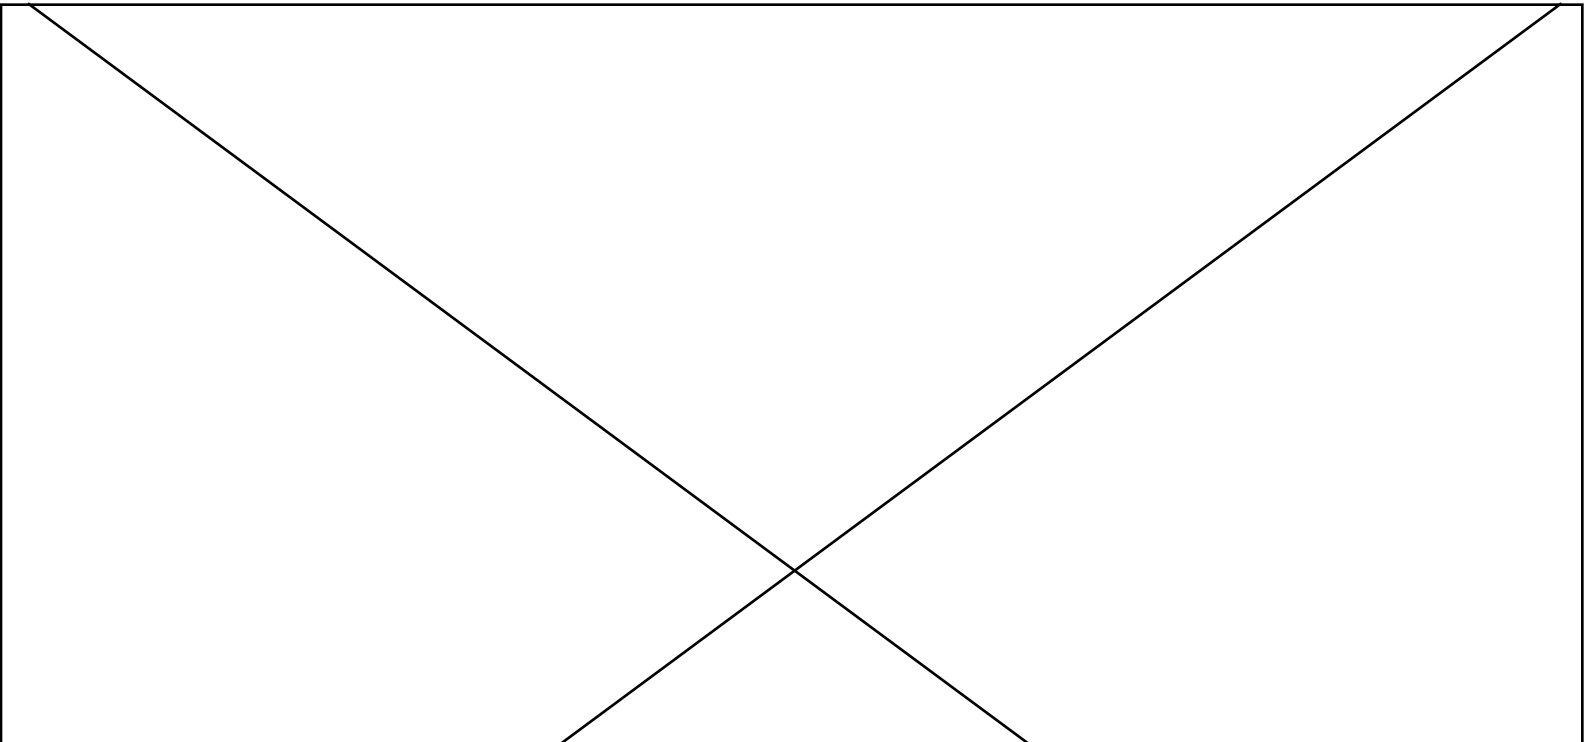

Customers who choose to replace their underwear more often, generally do so as a "peace of mind" measure, given that the underwear is a hygiene item.

CARE INSTRUCTIONS

The first and most important thing to do is make sure that the underwear doesn't dry out. Try to soak, or at least rinse, them soon after wearing.

Machine washing is fine.

Regular detergent can be used with warm water, but not too hot, as it will damage the waistband and fabric.

Why Period Panties?

If a woman were to spend a lifetime using disposable sanitary items, she'd go through approximately 11,000 tampons and pads.

Q & A

What are the undies made from?

By Kelly

- The fabric body of the underwear is made from predominantly bamboo, with cotton and spandex for structure and stretch.
- The central leak proof gusset is a bamboo fabric that is poly laminated, which is then covered by a second layer of bamboo fabric.
- The absorbent styles have a central crotch section that is made from polyester (80%) and nylon (20%).
- The hipster waistband is made from nylon (52%), rubber latex (30%), and polyester (18%).
